UNMATCHED RESIDENCE SUPPORT

At most colleges, you'll find that on-campus residence halls and apartments have Resident Assistants, but King's College goes further by offering Resident Counselors, too.

Resident Assistants (RAs) have many responsibilities, but their primary role is to create a welcoming and inclusive environment through residential activities while upholding rules and managing conflict. Usually in their senior year, they are important peer mentors who can help you transition into college life. King's College staffs several RAs in every residence hall and apartment to ensure ample individual support.

However, King's College places incredible importance on more than just providing education and a place to live. Your wellness and success are our top priority, which is why the College also staffs Resident Counselors (RCs) in every residence hall and apartment. RCs are paraprofessional advisors, and often recent graduates of King's, who can assist you with academic, personal, or spiritual issues. RCs meet with students the first three weeks of every semester, at mid-term, and as needed throughout the year to ensure you're fully supported in mind and heart.

RESIDENCY POLICY

All first-year and second-year students who do not reside within commuting distance (within 45 miles of campus) and who are under 21 years of age are required to live in College housing. Junior and senior students who have successfully completed at least 57 credit hours and maintain a 2.5 minimum GPA may reside off campus but must submit an Off-campus Housing Form. A student meeting those criteria will be conditionally approved, pending the completion of the semester prior to moving off campus.

A commuter student is defined as a student who resides in the permanent home of their parents or legal guardian, or in the home of a close relative (who is not a student and is at least 30 years of age), and who commutes to classes each day. A commuter may not reside more than 45 driving miles from home to the campus.
