Turbo Micah | All Aboard My Imagination

Exhibit: Monday, January 5- Friday January 16

Meet the Artist: Saturday, January 10 | 2:00 - 4:00 p.m.

At just 10 years old, Micah has been creating art since the age of six. When he was diagnosed with autism, his mom quickly noticed his extraordinary abilities—completing puzzles in record time, mastering math concepts beyond his age, and expressing himself through drawing.

One of Micah's most remarkable gifts is his ability to create entirely from his imagination, without needing to look at a picture for reference. He loves bringing cars and trains to life with bold lines and vibrant color. Recently, he's expanded his creativity by designing comic-style animations and inviting others to color alongside him, turning art into a shared experience.

Stop by and meet Micah as he takes you... All Aboard His Imagination!

Through The Years | King's Yearbook Staff

Exhibit: Tuesday, January 20 - Friday January 27

King's has published a yearbook every year since 1949, capturing everything from important events of the year, senior specific events, and much more. Yearbooks are something that allows for reminders of the past, focus on major contributors to the student experience, and looking forward to the future. Stop by and experience King's Through the Years from the student perspective.

African American Evolution of Music | Multicultural Office

Exhibit: Friday, January 30 – Friday, February 13

Let's Celebrate Black History Month! Walk around each display and see the photos of rhythm and music. Music has been an important role of expression. Not only will you see, but you can also hear as you put on your air pods/earphones and surround yourself with the music as you walk through.

Stations of the Cross | Campus Ministry

Exhibit: February 17 – March 13

The Stations of the Cross depict the suffering and death of Jesus Christ on Good Friday, inviting those who pray before them to recall His sacrifice and the gift of salvation. The artistic depictions of the Stations of the Cross from the former Chapel of Christ the King will be displayed alongside contemporary images highlighting the fight against injustice still present in the world. All are invited to visit and pray with the Stations of the Cross during the first weeks of Lent. Guides for understanding and praying the Stations of the Cross will be available in the Gallery.

Stress Less Fest | Student Health and Counseling Centers

Exhibit: Monday, March 23 – Friday, March 27

The Counseling Center and Student Health Services invite you to experience a self-guided meditation display in the campus gallery, available Monday, March 23 through Friday, March 27, 2026. The gallery will be transformed into a calm, restorative space featuring stations that introduce a variety of meditation practices. Visitors can explore spiritual meditation, loving-kindness, sleep, body scan, and guided imagery exercises—each designed to be completed in less than 10 minutes. This display is part of our annual Stress Less Fest, which will conclude with additional activities in the Campus Center lobby on Friday, March 27.

Craig | Controlled Chaos

Exhibit: Thursday, April 2 – Thursday, April 30

Meet the Artist: Thursday, April 16 | 5 – 8 p.m.

Creating art has been a lifelong passion for me; starting from when I was a very young person and continuing to the present! In Fall 2020, I started Craig's Canvases to be able to focus on creating my own distinctive artworks on a more full-time basis. I consider myself a multimedia artist as many of my recent original artworks are acrylic on canvas; however, my portfolio is as varied as my experiences and includes other water-based media like watercolor and gouache, in addition to oils, oil pastels, original prints, India Ink, and sometimes a combination of several in a mixed media or collage artwork. A common theme throughout many of my artworks is "controlled chaos." It's enjoyable to present to the audience: the juxtaposition of bright and vibrant colors against darker and duller ones, smooth painting versus heavily textured areas, smooth color transitions beside hectic and frantic markings. Inspiration for my artwork comes from everywhere and everyone: nature, past destinations and experiences, music, dreams, and my imagination. My artistic styles can vary between abstraction, surrealism, and realism; many of my artworks merge elements from each into the finished composition.

Annual Student Media Exhibit | Mass Communications Department

Exhibit: Monday, May 4 – Monday, May 18

Since 2011, Dr. Mercincavage coordinated regular Media Exhibits to display the creativity of King's College students enrolled in Mass Communications courses and her graphic design course in the CORE curriculum. The title of the display is the Annual Student Media Communications Exhibit. It is a compilation of mostly printed graphic design works such as print ads, magazine article spreads, posters, webpages, and other graphic design pieces.

What is Juneteenth | Wilkes-Barre Freedom Fighters

Exhibit: Monday, June 1 – Friday, June 19

Juneteenth celebrates freedom. On June 19, 1865, the last enslaved African Americans learned they were free over two years after freedom was declared. This photo timeline invites you to explore moments of resilience, joy, and progress, and to reflect on how the story of Juneteenth continues to shape our understanding of freedom today.

Two Perspectives: The Scope of Humanity | Julie Heffers & Mike Hiscox

Exhibit: Thursday, July 2 – Friday, July 24

Exhibit details coming soon.
