Sequela

Selected works by Colleen Quinn | January 9th – 28th

Meet the Artist: Friday January 13th, 4:00PM-7:00PM

A series of 15 paintings that range in size from 10" x 14" to 5' x 7'. Using acrylic paint on canvas, the paintings are realistic, figurative and have an emphasis on portraiture. This series began four and a half years ago after I was diagnosed with stage four breast cancer. This was a harrowing and ultimately life-changing experience that caused me to refocus my art to what is most important to me, namely, the close relationships I have had and a reflection on meaning: what my life has been about. I have also been moved to reconsider my fears and acceptance of mortality and how this universal reality always seems to come as a shock. The theme of the work I am proposing for display at Widmann Gallery is how joy and pain can co-exist in the same moment, and how we connect with each other in powerful ways through these shared human experiences.

African American Evolution of Music

Multicultural Office, King's College | February 1st – 17th

Public Viewing (No headphones are needed on this day)

- Thursday February 9th, 3:30PM-4:00PM

Let's Celebrate Black History Month! Walk around each display and see the photos of rhythm and music. From slavery until now, music has been an important role of expression. Not only will you see, but you can also hear as you put on your air pods/earphones and surround yourself with the music as you walk through.

Stations of the Cross

Office of Campus Ministry, King's College | February 20th – 24th

Public Event: Friday February 24th, 4:00PM

The Stations of the Cross depict the suffering and death of Jesus Christ on Good Friday, inviting those who pray before them to recall His sacrifice and the gift of salvation. The artistic depictions of the Stations of the Cross from the former Chapel of Christ the King will be displayed alongside contemporary images highlighting the fight against injustice still present in the world. All are invited to visit and pray with the Stations of the Cross during this first week of Lent. A communal praying of the Stations of the Cross will take place at 4:00pm on Friday February 24.

Women at King's

King's College Subcommittee | March 1st- 31st

The Class of 1973 will be celebrating 50 years and it is the first official class of female graduates at King's College! See the Gallery as King's College places a spotlight on women at King's during Women History!

Annual Student Media Communications Exhibit

Mass Communications @ King's College | May 2nd – May 20th

Dr. Mercincavage coordinated this Media Exhibit every year since 2011 to showcase the creativity of King's College students enrolled in Mass Communications courses and her graphic design course in the CORE curriculum. The title of the display is the Annual Student Media Communications Exhibit. It is a compilation of mostly printed graphic design works (e.g., print ads, magazine article spreads, posters, web pages, social media ads, etc.). Computers will be used to showcase students' video and audio works from the Mass Communications broadcasting courses. Sometimes students submit work from their experience at WRKC or The Crown.
