Major in Management – Concentration in Finance

Have you ever walked into a restaurant and noticed that the proprietors have the first dollar they ever earned framed on the wall? To the owner of this business, this single dollar not only represents their accomplishment of opening their own business but it also shows that the business is a success—they made money.

While owning a profitable business is a great way to make money, did you know there are numerous other ways to do it? Whether you're interested in becoming a trader on Wall Street, a stock market guru or you aspire to become the next Warren Buffet, King's has the faculty and resources to help you achieve your career goals.

Finance Today

At King's College you will develop your business skills by taking courses in the William G. McGowan School of Business.
